

- 1) Jane Rabinowicz, Executive Director, USC Canada www.usc-canada.org
www.seedsecurity.ca

“This book beautifully combines storytelling with scientific evidence.”

This book beautifully combines storytelling with scientific evidence. Martin contributes a unique perspective that seamlessly bridges his lived experience of family farming, and his distinguished academic career. His text informs us, and offers a call to action that inspires us to consider the impact we might achieve if we approach food with deference and an acknowledgement of its power in our daily lives, our cultures, our economies, and the living systems that sustain us.